

Staff

Semprini's family has been involved in running the hotel ever since it was built in 1970.

Simone is the "lady of the house", and she originally came from Amneville les Thermes in the north-east of France. She has added her international personal touch to the cuisine, respecting the traditional "romagna" influence. Through her energies, French is the second language for all the family, who are also conversant in English and German.

The children have participated in the running of the hotel since they were young, and add a friendly and vibrant touch. This has created a strong rapport with all clients, both Italian and other nationalities, which in turn gives a personalised and welcoming family environment.

The HOTEL MANZONI is managed by the owners at a family level. In addition to the parking and interior spaces, it is equipped with a large terrace where breakfast is served and a charming fenced garden that allows parents a tranquil stay and makes the hotel an especially suitable environment for serene family vacations. In Italy, the kitchen is at the heart of a well managed hotel, and so our kitchen has always received particular attention and care, nurturing traditional "local dishes" as well as developing interesting and harmonious modern fare. This combined menu, together with the flexibility of the management, aims to please everyone's palette and needs, including children's menus.

The HOTEL MANZONI is located a short distance from the town center and the sea, on a quiet road with little traffic. The small number of rooms, all with private services and balcony (arranged on three floors served by an elevator starting from the tavern and TV room), contributes to creating a familiar and cordial environment and allows the management to have a personalized relationship with its guests.
